

MARVELOUS MAMMALS CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

1. Also known as scaly anteaters, these toothless mammals from Asia and Africa grab food with their sticky tongues
6. How some mammals search for food
7. Where some animals go to hibernate
8. A medium-sized African cat that can leap up to 2 meters high to pounce on its prey
9. A maned mammal. When many are together it is called a pride.
11. A semi-aquatic mammal that can be found in cold waters around the world
12. A resounding, loud sound emitted by some mammals, such as wolves and monkeys
14. A medium-sized canid with a large bushy tail
15. A large mammal that has a short trunk and eats vegetation, and is most closely related to horses
16. A baby deer

(See answer key below)

DOWN

1. One of the only mammals that lays eggs
2. This ungulate is known for its exceptionally long neck, to reach treetop vegetation
3. A type of primate endemic to Madagascar
4. The largest mammal on Earth
5. The largest wild cat in the Americas
7. A female deer
8. This slow-moving arboreal mammal often has algae growing on its fur
9. This trendy mammal is domesticated, known for its wool. Its wild relatives are alpacas and guanacos
10. A large canid that lives in packs
11. The Pygmy or _____ Anteater is the smallest member of its family; hint: it is named for its glossy, soft fur
13. Musk _____ grow a thick coat of fur to keep them warm in their Arctic environment

MARVELOUS MAMMALS CROSSWORD PUZZLE

¹ P	A	N	² G	O	³ L	I	N		⁴ B
L			I		E				L
A			R		M		⁵ J		U
T			A		U		A		E
Y			⁶ F	O	R	A	G	E	W
P			F				U		H
U		⁷ D	E	N			A		A
S		O			⁸ S	E	R	V	A	L
		E			L				E
			⁹ L	I	O	N		¹⁰ W
¹¹ S	E	A	L		T			O
I			A		¹² H	O	W	L	¹³ O
L			M				¹⁴ F	O	X
K		¹⁵ T	A	P	I	R			E
Y							¹⁶ F	A	W	N

ACROSS

- Also known as scaly anteaters, these toothless mammals from Asia and Africa grab food with their sticky tongues
- How some mammals search for food
- Where some animals go to hibernate
- A medium-sized African cat that can leap up to 2 meters high to pounce on its prey
- A maned mammal. When many are together it is called a pride.
- A semi-aquatic mammal that can be found in cold waters around the world
- A resounding, loud sound emitted by some mammals, such as wolves and monkeys
- A medium-sized canid with a large bushy tail
- A large mammal that has a short trunk and eats vegetation, and is most closely related to horses
- A baby deer

(See answer key below)

DOWN

- One of the only mammals that lays eggs
- This ungulate is known for its exceptionally long neck, to reach treetop vegetation
- A type of primate endemic to Madagascar
- The largest mammal on Earth
- The largest wild cat in the Americas
- A female deer
- This slow-moving arboreal mammal often has algae growing on its fur
- This trendy mammal is domesticated, known for its wool. Its wild relatives are alpacas and guanacos
- A large canid that lives in packs
- The Pygmy or _____ Anteater is the smallest member of its family; hint: it is named for its glossy, soft fur
- Musk _____ grow a thick coat of fur to keep them warm in their Arctic environment