Australia covers over 7 million kilometers squared and is the sixth largest country in the world. It encompasses a wide variety of ecosystems from deserts to alpine to rainforests, and it is home to some of the world's most unique wildlife, including monotremes and marsupials, and a host of bird species. Australia is divided into six states, each with its own attractions, ecosystems, and wildlife. During our 7-day tour, we spent our time in Queensland. In only a week, we saw over 200 bird species, a total of 17 mammals including 7 kangaroo species, 4 species of possum, and other wildlife including dingoes, bandicoots, and platypus. We also saw 8 species of reptiles and amphibians and some incredible invertebrates too! On our last day, we snorkeled the Great Barrier Reef and enjoyed the spectacular coral reefs and undersea life. Over the week, we also learned so much about the plants and animals of Australia, thanks to our very knowledgeable guide.

Itinerary

Day 1: November 14 — Cairns to Atherton Tablelands

After finishing up an amazing week in New Zealand, and some flight delays causing us to spend the night in Brisbane, we woke up early for our flight to Cairns. We met our guide, Jonathan, at the airport at 8 a.m. We had a quick breakfast and then headed to our first birding spot — the Cattana Wetlands. One of the first sounds we heard as we stepped out of the car was the lovely song of the Green Orioles calling in the trees. As we walked the trail to a hide overlooking the wetlands, we got some nice looks at a male Sahul Sunbird flitting about in a tree. Once at the hide, we observed several water birds including Royal Spoonbill, Magpie Goose, Pacific Black Duck, Black-fronted Dotterels, Common Greenshank, and Latham's Snipe.

After several minutes, we left the hide and slowly made our way along a dirt path that circled the beautiful wetlands area. We watched an Australian Darter feeding on a crayfish and beautiful Comb-crested Jacanas walking along the aquatic vegetation, showing off their extremely long toes. We picked up several lifers for the group including Yellow, Brown, and Brown-backed Honeyeaters, as well as Australasian Figbird. The walk back to the car was through a lovely rainforest. About mid-way, we stopped at a spot where Jonathan had known Lovely Fairywrens to be seen. And, after only a few moments, two of these absolutely stunning birds appeared, darting about in the trees. We watched them for a few moments and then continued along the trail towards the exit. There, we spotted an Orange-footed Megapode foraging for food by pushing aside the leaves on the ground.

But, it wasn't just birds and lovely scenery. We also saw some nice invertebrates including Oakblue Butterfly, and Iridescent and Yellow flutterers (dragonflies), and our first of several reptiles seen on the trip, Krefft's River Turtle. We also enjoyed learning a lot about the general ecology of Australia's flora and fauna from our knowledgeable guide!

After about an hour and a half enjoying the wetlands, we drove to a lunch spot in Centenary Park. We had a great meal, and in the parking lot as we were leaving, we picked up several more lifers for the group including Willie-wagtail, Peaceful Dove, Olive Oriole, and the amazing Blue-faced and White-throated honeyeaters.

We then continued on to our next destination, with a detour to do some birding along some dirt roads lined with forest on each side and some streams. This was a very productive drive! Seemingly, bird after bird was popping up. In total, we saw 22 species along this route. Some highlights included White-browed Robin, Double-barred Finch, Varied Triller, Pale-headed Rosella, Sahul Cicadabird, and a Rufous Whistler feeding on a stick insect. We also got our first fleeting views of a Brown Goshawk soaring quickly past us high above. In addition, we saw our first mammal for the trip — an Agile Wallaby. We arrived at Emerald Creek Falls and did a short walk through the forest. Apart from the beautiful scenery, a Frill-necked Lizard clinging to the side of a tree along the trail and Eastern Yellow Robin also clinging to the side of a tree, were the highlights.

After a full day of birding, we made our way to our lodge, passing through farm fields and forests. In one field, we stopped to watch over 200 Red-tailed Black-Cockatoos sitting, flying, and calling. It was an amazing sighting! After stopping for some photos, we drove on and continued to what would be our home for the next three nights — the Rose Gums Wilderness Retreat. We checked in and rested before heading to Nick's Restaurant in town for dinner. On the way back to our lodge, we spotted more mammals along the road, both Northern Brown and Long-nosed bandicoots, and Red-legged Pademelon. What a wonderful introduction to birding and wildlife watching in Australia.

Day 2: November 15 — Atherton Tablelands to Ravenshoe

We met Jonathan at 6 a.m. for some birding around our hotel grounds. Right away we saw some good birds including Victoria's Riflebird, Pied Currawong, Rufous Shrikethrush, Helmeted Friarbird, Silvereye, Pale-yellow Robin, and Barred Cuckooshrike, to name just a few. At 8:30, we made our way to the lodge's reception area, where they have set up a feeding station. Rainbow Lorikeets and Australian King-Parrots dotted the trees above, and were busy at the feeders, alongside many Australian Bushturkeys.

After several minutes enjoying these colorful and active birds, we walked a short way to a small blind, where a different type of animal was coming in to feed. Here, we got terrific views of several Musky Rat-Kangaroo, an endemic to Australia's northeastern rainforests and the world's smallest kangaroo.

After a good while, we tore ourselves away and went to Gillies Cafe and Bar for breakfast. Here we got really nice looks at a Lewin's Honeyeater that came very close to our table, and another lifer, a Whistling Kite flew overhead. We also got closeup looks at Willie-wagtails and Australasian Figbird. After a delicious meal, we made our way to Hasties Swamp, a beautiful wetland area with a well designed hide. Here, we picked up several more lifers for the group. Plumed and Wandering whistling-ducks, Scarlet Myzomela, and Golden Whistler were some of the highlights. As we were busy watching birds, Jeanette spotted a Green Ringtail Possum in the tree. It was perfectly content hanging out on a large branch up in the tree as we watched it and photographed it for several minutes.

After a productive morning, we headed out to do some birding on a private reserve owned by our guide. As we were driving along, Jonathan spotted a Great Bowerbird. We pulled into the parking area where he had seen the bird fly into. Though we didn't see it again that day, we got two lovely birds right there — Crested Pigeon and Buff-banded Rail.

Our main target for the visit to the private reserve was Golden Bowerbird. We drove a few kilometers in and then parked the car. Following a narrow path through the forest, we arrived at the bower. But, things weren't looking good. The bower itself had clearly not been attended to in a while as leaves dotted the bower and Jonathan told us that the male here normally keeps his bower impeccable. So, it seemed as if he hadn't been present in a while. Even so, we decided to wait, just in case. After about ten minutes or so, we heard the male vocalize once! We searched the trees and suddenly the beautiful golden male appeared. It was quite cooperative and we were able to watch it for several minutes! While on the property, we also saw White-headed Pigeon, and heard Victoria's Riflebird and Superb Fruit-Dove.

After leaving the private reserve, we continued our drive toward a billabong, and at various stops along the way, we continued to pick up new birds for the tour including Squatter Pigeon, White-winged Triller, Dusky Moorhen, Common Bronzewing, and Australian Bustard. We also got a slightly better sighting of Brown Goshawk and some members of the group saw a Pacific Baza fly over. At the billabong we saw White-bellied Sea-Eagle, Forest Kingfisher, Australian Ibis, and more.

We saw other mammals as well. Several Whiptail (Pretty-faced) Wallabies and Eastern Gray Kangaroos were standing just along the edge of the road, and in a field we spotted a young, lone Dingo! As we scanned, we saw several more further off in the distance. It was an exciting sighting for the group.

We made a quick stop at the Mt Hypipamee National Park Crater Lookout platform. We saw the beautiful Boyd's Forest Dragon clinging to the side of a tree, and had very nice views of Pale-yellow Robin. After dinner, we returned to the private reserve for our night walk. Here we saw some amazing mammals despite the nearly full moon — Herbert River Ring-tailed Possum, Coppery Brush-tailed Possum, and Lemuroid Ring-tailed Possum. We also picked up another reptile for the trip. Jonathan spotted a Leaf-tailed Gecko high in the tree. We also heard a Southern Boobook calling in the distance. On the way back to our lodge, our final sighting for the day was of an Eastern Barn Owl perched along a fence line.

Day 3: November 16 — Winfield Park (Malanda), ETTY Bay, and Malanda Falls

Before we even left our hotel grounds, we saw a pair of Red-backed Fairywrens in the grass at our lodge. The male spent several minutes displaying to the female. He put on quite a show, ruffling up the beautiful red feathers along his back.

Our first stop this morning was at Winfield Park. We hadn't been out of the car more than 5 minutes before Jeanette spotted a Gray Goshawk flying up into a tree. It hung around long enough for us to get off a few photos before it flew off. We continued walking to the rivers edge. Almost as soon as we arrived, we saw a Black Bittern fly up and land on a fallen branch across the stream. It stayed for at least 30 minutes. Our main target for this morning, however, was not a bird. We were in search of Platypus. We had a few sightings of some just beneath the surface of the water, but we were hoping for better looks. Then suddenly, one swam right up the waters edge and stayed still, almost as if it was watching us. We could make out all the details, of this spectacular animal. What a great sighting! Here, we also got great views of Yellow-breasted Boatbill and Azure Kingfisher, among other species. To top it all off, several bright blue, beautiful Sapphire Rockmasters (dragonfly) were perched on the rocks along the stream.

After a full morning, we headed to The Gillies Cafe and Bar for breakfast and got another lifer, the stunning Double-eyed Fig-Parrot. After breakfast we headed to ETTY Bay in search of cassowaries. Along the way, we saw Bar-shouldered dove, Black-necked Stork and Pacific Baza, as well as a number of Metallic Starling nests on the power poles. During our search for Australias largest and possibly most iconic bird, we drove along back roads, walked a short way along the beach, and scanned peoples front yards. Finally on our way out, Jonathan spotted a male Southern Cassowary walking in front of someones house, peaking in the door. We watched it for a few minutes until it disappeared behind the house.

We then visited Malanda Falls Conservation Park and walked along the lovely forest trail. Here, we saw Red-legged Pademelon, another Platypus briefly, and got great views of Wompoo Fruit-Dove, and got our first looks at Spotted Catbird. Elcira spotted a bird moving in the trees, which was another lifer for the group, the Bower's Shrikethrush. We then drove to the Curtain Fig Tree loop trail to see the amazing tree that gives this trail its name. Here we got great looks at a very cooperative Rose-crowned Fruit-Dove, and also heard Superb and Wompoo fruit-doves.

We then drove along the Stone House road in search of tree kangaroos, but didn't see any. Instead, we saw Sulphur-Crested Cockatoos, Brown Goshawk, and a lifer Crimson Rosella.

We made one last stop at Mount Hypipamee National Park to see if we can spot another Southern Cassowary. We got very lucky. A young male was wandering along the side of the road. We spent about 10 minutes or so observing it as it walked back and forth along the road, walking toward us at one point, before disappearing into the forest.

After a wonderfully productive day, we returned to Nicks for a nice dinner. Just at sunset, Jonathan asked us to step outside. There we saw several Spectacled Flying-fox heading out from roost to begin a night of foraging. On our drive back to the hotel, we spotted two Northern Brown Bandicoots and a Dingo.

Day 4: November 17 — Granite Gorge to Daintree

We had a final morning of birding at our lodge. Here we picked up the lovely Mistletoebird, and got really nice views of Macleay's Honeyeater, Sulphur-crested Cockatoos flying over, and Laughing Kookaburra, among other species. After a delicious breakfast, we headed to Granite Gorge Natural Park to watch for Mareeba Rock Wallabies. We saw a handful of them resting in the shade among the beautiful boulders - the dominant species on the landscape.

After departing Granite Gorge, we made a quick stop at Memorial Lake Mitchell. Here, we picked up more lifers for the trip — Radjah Shelduck and Fairy Martin, and saw a Whistling Kite feeding on something in the distance. We then made our way to Mt. Carbine Caravan Park. Despite the heat, we got some great views of some really spectacular birds. Just outside the park we saw a Great Bowerbird, showing off its purple nape feathers, as it carried a red plastic cap and laid it at the bower — a busy decorator. We also saw Apostlebird, Little Friarbird, Pale-headed Rosella, and Black-faced and White-bellied cuckooshrikes. As we walked around the park, we continued to add birds to our life list including about a dozen Galahs perching in the trees above, five Tawny Frogmouths, including an adult and two young, as well as Blue-headed Honeyeater. We also heard Blue-winged Kookaburras, but they flew out of sight before we were able to spot them.

After we left the park, we made quick stop for lunch and picked up another lifer as we were eating - the Cryptic Honeyeater. We also enjoyed watching Rainbow Lorikeets and Australasian Figbirds hanging about in the trees.

We continued on to Abattoir Wetlands. As we were driving, Jeanette spotted two Black-necked Storks in field and we stopped to get a better look. Once at the wetlands, we walked a small circuit and stayed for a few moments in a blind, but most of the pond was dried up. Here, we heard Spotted Pardalote and Gray Fantail but didn't see them. However, we got nice looks at Rufous Shrikethrush, White-cheeked Honeyeater, and Black Kite. We also had our first amphibian for the trip, the lovely White-lipped Tree Frog. We continued our drive and made it to Daintree about an hour before dark, checked into our lovely hotel, had a nice dinner and got some rest after a long but fruitful day.

Day 5: November 18 — Daintree

We got an early start this morning with a quick stop at the Daintree River and got some nice looks at Sahul Sunbird and Bar-shouldered Dove. We then drove out to Steven's Creek and our main target for today was the Buff-breasted Paradise-Kingfisher. Almost right away, we began to hear a few kingfishers calling along a dry riverbed alongside the road. As the morning progressed, the birds moved closer. Despite our searching, we couldn't quite get a look at the kingfishers as they were tucked away in the trees. We then walked to a forested trail nearby, hoping to see them cross in front of us. We caught a few glimpses, but never got a really clear sighting. Despite that, we had a great morning and saw some other really nice birds including Peregrine Falcon that flew in front of our car, Yellow-spotted Honeyeater and really nice looks at a male and female Shining Flycatcher.

We then returned to our lodge for breakfast before heading down into Daintree. Here, we switched our focus from birds to the wonderful flora and invertebrates found in the Daintree. We enjoyed strolling along the Marrdja Botanical Walk and Dubuji Rainforest Boardwalk trail. Here we saw quite a few interesting animals. We saw two types of fish, Sooty Grunter and Snakehead Gudgeon, a Golden Orb-Weaver, as well as the fascinating Peppermint Stick Insect, which sprays a fluid said to smell like peppermint as a defense. Thus its name! We made our final stop for the day at Cowie Beach to search for Blue Soldier Crabs. Though we didn't see any crabs, we got a few new lifers for the trip: Pacific Reef-Heron, Red-necked Stint, Pacific and Siberian sand-plovers, and Gray-tailed Tattler, among others. We then returned to our beautiful lodge for the evening.

Day 6: December 19 — Daintree River Boat Cruise, Port Douglas, and Cairns

We woke up a bit earlier this morning and headed to the Daintree River for a short cruise. While we were waiting for the rest of the group to arrive, one of the boat guides took us down the river to see a flock of 14 Spotted Whistling-Ducks perched on a branch over the river. They stayed for just a few moments before flying off. It was a great sighting and we are very grateful to this guide for going out of his way to show us these birds!

The cruise itself was lovely. The ride was peaceful and beautiful, with some large trees lining the bank. We saw a few raptors from the boat including Osprey and Black-tailed Kite. We also saw a pair of nesting Shining Flycatcher, the male and the female each taking turns tending the nest. We got great views of a flock of Chestnut-breasted Munia, another lifer for the group and a stunning bird! And we saw two new reptiles for the tour, Saltwater (Estuarine) Crocodile and Eastern Water Dragon.

We then returned to Steven's Creek to search for the Buff-breasted Paradise-Kingfisher again. Again, we heard a couple calling from nearby, and caught glimpses of it as it flew from its hiding spot deep in the trees. Because we had to return to Cairns today, we decided to move on. On the way out, we got another lifer mammal for the group. We spotted two Swamp Wallabies, a mother and a joey crossing the road!!

We made several stops along the way back to our hotel in Cairns. We stopped at Port Douglas, the Cairns Botanical Gardens, and the Cairns Esplanade to do some birding. We picked up some nice sightings including a Dusky Moorhen and Australian Figbird feeding young, and picked up a few more lifers for the trip including Varied Honeyeater and Australian Tern. When we returned to our hotel, an adult and young Bush Thick-knee were wandering around the parking lot!

Day 7: November 20 — Michaelmas Island, Snorkeling the Great Barrier Reef

Today we took a boat trip to do some birding and to enjoy snorkeling at the Great Barrier Reef. We boarded the boat and were underway at around 8 a.m. Our first stop was Michaelmas Island, a roughly two hour ride from Cairns. The island was filled with nesting seabirds, including Brown Noddies, Brown Boobies, and Great Frigatebirds. Several other seabirds were flying around the island including Sooty, Bridled, Black-naped, Lesser Crested, and Great Crested terns. We also spotted Red-footed Boobies perched on a buoy. After a nice buffet lunch on the boat, our next stop was at a nice snorkeling site at the Great Barrier Reef. The water was a bit choppy, but we still were able to enjoy the beautiful colors of the coral, a plethora of colorful fish, a sea cucumber, and more. It was a fabulous end to a terrific trip. But, we still had one more stop to make. We returned to the Esplanade and picked up new birds for the trip including a lifer for the group - Terek Sandpiper! We returned to our hotel for our final dinner and to get ready for our flights tomorrow.

Day 8: November 21 — Departure

This morning, after breakfast, we dropped Jeanette and Elcira off at the Cairn's Airport for their early morning flight.

Thanks!

As always, we want to thank Jeanette and Elcira for being part of this tour. We also thank our great local guide, Jonathan Munro, who showed us some amazing wildlife and shared his wide array of knowledge with us about Australia's flora and fauna. And a warm thank you to the guide on Daintree River who went out of his way to show us the Spotted Whistling-Ducks before they flew off.
